

Connect the Dots

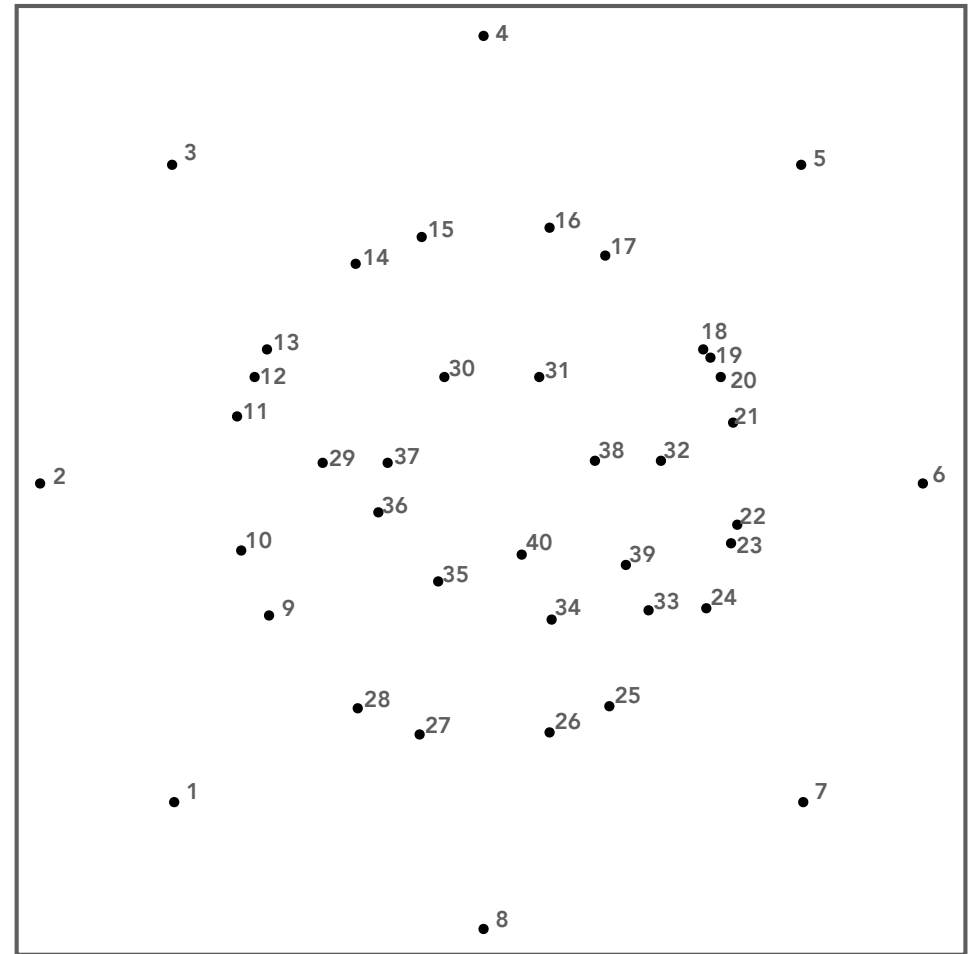

Those who misdirect connections and selectively ignore events can conjure monsters

Institute for Conspiracy Theory Analysis

2021

To seek connections among the constellation of random events in life and the world is to search for meaning

Perception of spurious connections between random events can generate strange meanings